

Payment Plans & Third-Party Financing

Copper Canyon Institute ("CCI" or the "Institute"), an Arizona limited liability company, will offer in-house payment plans and utilize third-party payment and financing providers to assist students with tuition and applicable institutional fees.

In-House Installment Plans

CCI will offer eligible students the option to pay tuition in installments rather than in one payment. Students may request a payment plan through admissions. Each arrangement will be documented in a written agreement identifying the total charges, any initial payment, installment amounts, payment frequency, due dates, repayment term, and any applicable interest, fees, late charges, or consequences of missed payments. Students will receive these terms before accepting the arrangement.

Third-Party Payment and Financing Options

CCI will also utilize various independent third-party providers for tuition payment arrangements and financing options. Available providers, application procedures, eligibility requirements, and applicable terms will be disclosed to students before participation. Financing approval, credit requirements, interest rates, fees, and repayment obligations will be determined by the applicable provider and documented in the provider's agreement. Third-party financing will be optional, and approval is not guaranteed.

Written Disclosures and Student Protections

CCI will publish available payment schedules, financing options, eligibility requirements, application procedures, and applicable rates and payment amounts in its catalog. Terms applicable to an individual student will also be set out in the enrollment agreement or accompanying financial documents. Disclosed eligibility criteria will be applied consistently, and students will receive copies of the agreements they accept.

Participation in a payment plan or financing arrangement will not waive applicable cancellation or refund rights. Tuition adjustments and refunds will be handled under the Institute's published policies and applicable law, with corresponding account adjustments or payments to the appropriate student or funding provider.

This statement summarizes the Institute's intended payment options. Specific installment schedules and third-party provider agreements will be documented separately before those arrangements are offered to students.
